Trains leave Carrizozo for Capitan only on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week at 6 a. m., and all persons going to Fort Stanton will be met by a conveyance from the station, which meets all trains arriving at Capitan.

Trains leave Carrizozo for Capitan only on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week at 6 a. m., and all persons going to Fort Stanton will be met by a conveyance from the station, which meets all trains arriving at Capitan.

Trains leave Carrizozo for Capitan only on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week at 6 a. m., and all persons going to Fort Stanton will be met by a conveyance from the station, which meets all trains arriving at Capitan.

Trains leave Carrizozo for Capitan only on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week at 6 a. m., and all persons going to Fort Stanton will be met by a conveyance from the station, which meets all trains arriving at Capitan.
